IAAN Moves to New Website

The Indiana Academic Advising Network has moved its website from its home on the Indiana University campus to its new home at Purdue University Calumet.

The new URL is:
iaan.calumet.purdue.edu

Jeff Hamilton has taken over as the Webmaster. Jeff is an advisor in Purdue Calumet's School of Management. Previously, he was an academic advisor for the University's Computer Information Systems Department in the School of Technology.

The new website was designed and built by Jeff over the past several months. It was a long, arduous adventure. IAAN hopes that the new website will be visited by many advisors over the years.

During the rebuilding process, the newsletter was unable to be published. The new website has all the archived newsletters easily accessible.

IAAN Mission

The Indiana Academic Advisors Network (IAAN) is a group of professionals from colleges and universities across the state of Indiana. The organization was formed to foster the personal and professional development of its members. The membership of IAAN is comprised of faculty members, administrators, peer advisors and other professionals who are concerned with the advising needs of students.

The goal of the organization is to promote communication among its members. By joining IAAN members will get the opportunity to share ideas, learn about new programs, and meet colleagues with similar professional interests and situations.

IAAN will also provide to its members additional services, such as professional referrals, job placement information and an in-state resource clearinghouse. Because IAAN is a National Academic Advising Network (NACADA) allied organization, members will also be able to obtain links to other professionals, associations, and resources beyond Indiana, extending members' networking and information circle.
